Hi Shirley!

Received the packet yesterday late and I'm still micro poring over the information. I find it interesting that the author states she's unsure if these are "ours" and especially Mary (Stone) George.From amount of detail and obvious research entailed as well as the review of the lawsuit, it is pretty clear that it's a 90-98% certainty they are in fact our family.

Two things have puzzled us for a long time and this new information goes a long way towards clarifying our history. For one thing, there has always been confusion as to their movements in KY and TN. There was up to this point, no conclusive evidence that they were in fact ever in either of these states although obituaries etc and Sam's claim of birth in TN existed. From your information, we now know that the Georges left S.C. to go to KY and in 1824 went down through TN and around back up to Illinois. This pattern of migration (as a route of travel from point A to B) makes no sense until we insert the lawsuit and probable money payout in TN around this time.Mary george would have had to physically travel to TN to resolve any family problems prior to moving to Illinois and Samuel was born in 1824 enroute to IL after stopping in Williamson,TN. So it all becomes clear and makes sense.

The other thing is that we have a long standing oral history of having been Georgia plantation owners and having a relative riding with Nathan Bedford Forrest. In that we now have a family (extended) history in middle TN, the Forrest story may bear fruit (for some reason one of my brothers is hard bent on this point).As regards the plantation, William owned 640 acres on the Georgia border. One needed a lot of people to work that land and your information indicates that the family sold a number of slaves after William Sr.'s death.There is a plantation named "Belfast" in that area that was owned by a Stone family and transferred ownership in our time frame.

I don't understand the use of the numbers at the beginning of the names (i.e. Mary Stone 139,John Stone 1476 etc) do you know how that works?

I'm going to spend a lot of time poring over this on the weekend.I greatly appreciate all you've done.A couple of questions, is the author of this Ruth Cook still living and if so, do you know her? She is apparently kin to our line of George and we'd love to contact her.And what type of info do you have on the George line? Sorry if you've mentioned this before but things are a tad hazy with all this new info now at hand.

Talk to you soon....

WOW! GREAT Shirley! This is very helpful information regarding Rowland. My wife's Stone line comes out of Philadelphia at the same time.She's been looking and is pretty sure her line and my line are the same. Which is a little strange actually....

Because of all the information you've sent so far, I've been able to both solve long standing mysteries and follow the family migration.I find it interesting that the Georges seem to have followed the Stones (And the Coopers,another branch) to Tennessee and the Stones stayed there while the Georges moved on.I've been to Illinois and Tennessee. Loved both of them.I also have information that the Georges went through Kentucky for awhile prior to moving on to Illinois. My impression is that they were always on the leading edge of expansion.That when new land opened up, they went there. I think the only reason that they stayed in Illinois was the family was getting too big and settled and John was getting older. He would have been 51 when they arrived in Illinois.In a couple of years (summer 2010 probably, I and my brothers will be traveling east to Illinois,South Carolina and our "Homeland" of South Dakota to see all this.I lived in Troy, Ohio on the Indiana border in 2002-3 and had no clue about all this.My oldest brother lives in Columbus.

I can't wait for the picture of William.I'm assuming he must have looked like Samuel.

As I've mentioned, I only found my birth family last May so a year ago I had nothing. Now I have a family history that goes to at least 1400 and my brothers and sister have all this background because of my research. It's wonderful.BTW, we belong to Ancestry.com so if there's ever ANYTHING I can help YOU with, let me know!

Talk to you soon,
~Doug

P.S. I live in a incredibly small rural town in the Oregon coastal mountains (we have more elk than people) so I understand the mail...we only have mail on weekdays and they don't bring it to the house.

I just found something really interesting for you. I belong to Footnote. They have so many historical records. Not long ago I found the Rev. War papers for my Patrick Lynn (he was also from Ireland). I put in William Stone and the first information that came up was on Rowland Stone. A felloiw from Murray, Kentucky (Calloway County), had written a letter wanting information about a pension record for Rowland. This was in 1939. The reply gave Rowland's birthdate and said he emigragted to Philadelphia and lived in Pennsylvania for about 5 years, then moved to Ninety Six District in South Carolina. While a residence there , he enlisted in the South Carolina Regiment. He lived in South Carolina about 30 years, then moved to Tennessee, then Calloway, Kentucky. I am copying all this information for you and will include it in the George information and will also continue to look for any other information on this family this weekend. This is all so interesting and I know you will enjoy having it. Perhaps you will be able to piece it altogether. Hopefully, there will be more information on William. Did you know they came into Pennsylvania?

Hi Shirley!

Am reading this letter of yours...WOW! 82 huh? (I'm 51 myself). I'm wondering if you think it would be OK to call Ruth? You mention Carmi obituaries. One big problem i've encountered is a lack of an obituary for John George Sr. He was drowned on January first,1850 and we can't find any record of it. I would think that having a son a Justice of the Peace (William) and a son an Attorney (Francis) the family would have placed one.Although I understand winter conditions probably held that up. It probably would have contained a lot of information.Of all the people to not have one.....You also mentioned Missouri Death Certificates. I was not aware of anyone in Missouri although that doesn't mean anything. I don't know where ANYONE is until I find 'em.So now I'm curious. It appears that I'm rapidly becoming something of the family historian.With help from my brother Derek, we should be able to create a tree out of all this. I very much greatly appreciate all you've done for us.

Doug, I have also gone to a cordless keyboard and am having all kinds of problems with it, so please excuse the typo's, spaces between letters, added letters, left out letters, etc.

Yes, Ruth Ellen Cook descends from Margaret George, d/o John and Mary Stone. She is also a first cousin to my sister-in-law. I talked with Ruth Ellen some time ago and she doesn't research anymore due to her husband's objection. Her address and phone number on the Stone information was still the same when I talked with her. I don't know if she has anymore information on the Stone's or not. I was asking her about the Vaught family. Margaret George married William Vaught.

The numbers on the George sheet, such as #1746, is probably the numbering system for the genealogy program used. I wonder if Ruth Ellen had the Mormon Church do some research for her. She is not Mormon and the sheet she sent certainly looks like it may have come from the Mormons.

I have your George information ready to mail. It will probably be Monday as the postoffice closes early today. I am sending you a copy of everything I have, Doug. I am sending you some of the original papers. I do have copies of everything. Doug, I am 82 years old now and I think I told you my family is not interested in any of this, so I am not sure what will become of all this when I'm gone. I have donated 8 crates of material to the Fort Wayne Library to insure its' safety, including the 20 plus years of the Wayne County Press Obituaries, also the Carmi newspapers. I also had over 1000 old obituaries from the early newspapers. I have worked many years with my husband's cousin's husband on these early Wayne and White County families. He would read and print the old obituraies and then send them to me and I would copy them and put them in book form. That's how we got the one for Samuel. Both papers are now on line, so I don't do it anymore.

As far as the Stone family being in Georgia, I am wondering if Georgetown District was miscontrued for Georgia. You know copies of the lawsuits and wills might offer more information.

I am sending you some of the Missouri Death Certificates, but I did not copy all of them. Those are available via Missouri Digital Heritage. That is an excellent site if you have anyone In Missouri.

Calloway County, Kentucky and Henry County, Tennessee, are just a cross the line from each other. I'll keep working on those early family, Doug, to see if I can find further information.

Happy researching!~

Shirley

Hi Shirley!

Received the packet yesterday late and I'm still micro poring over the information. I find it interesting that the author states she's unsure if these are "ours" and especially Mary (Stone) George.From amount of detail and obvious research entailed as well as the review of the lawsuit, it is pretty clear that it's a 90-98% certainty they are in fact our family.

Two things have puzzled us for a long time and this new information goes a long way towards clarifying our history. For one thing, there has always been confusion as to their movements in KY and TN. There was up to this point, no conclusive evidence that they were in fact ever in either of these states although obituaries etc and Sam's claim of birth in TN existed. From your information, we now know that the Georges left S.C. to go to KY and in 1824 went down through TN and around back up to Illinois. This pattern of migration (as a route of travel from point A to B) makes no sense until we insert the lawsuit and probable money payout in TN around this time.Mary george would have had to physically travel to TN to resolve any family problems prior to moving to Illinois and Samuel was born in 1824 enroute to IL after stopping in Williamson,TN. So it all becomes clear and makes sense.

The other thing is that we have a long standing oral history of having been Georgia plantation owners and having a relative riding with Nathan Bedford Forrest. In that we now have a family (extended) history in middle TN, the Forrest story may bear fruit I don't understand the use of the numbers at the beginning of the names (i.e. Mary Stone 139,John Stone 1476 etc) do you know how that works?

I'm going to spend a lot of time poring over this on the weekend.I greatly appreciate all you've done.A couple of questions, is the author of this Ruth Cook still living and if so, do you know her? Hi again,

I'm somewhat upset right now as I saved a lot of stuff to my gmail files and when I went to retrieve them for you, they were gone into cyber never -never land.Not to worry, my brothers have copies and they can email them to me.In the meantime, here is some basic (but a little confused) history on Sam.mostly letters between my uncle and a cousin and some stuff from Betty. I'll try to find some time this weekend to clarify his life otherwise, first thing Monday I'll write a long letter.My wife was laughing when she saw your letter. Some of the Coffin and Stone names seemed familiar to her. She's going to try and see what she can do.

I'll

write ASAP,

Doug

Subject: Re: William Stone -

It was interesting to see a death date for Mary "Polly" Stone George. I have not found her after 1840. In the 1840 census there is a female age 50-60 living with John George. I assume this is Mary, but I have found no trace of her after that. I have White County, IL marriages and obituaries (1872-1896) and she is not listed in either.

I have had difficulty finding out what happened to her myself. I believe that either she died with John (flashflood?) or she left the area however unlikely that may seem. There is no census record of her residing with one of the children so far but we only recently became aware of all the children of John and Mary so she may have lived out her years with a daughter. One would think that there would be an obituary given the prominence of the family in Carmi but John apparently went without one so....?

Do you have John's other siblings? I have info here on a James George that I thought might be his brother. This James had childrden: John, Samuel and William. He died in Caldwell Co. KY. I'll send that info to you, too.

I only know of a Samuel born in 1791.I need to find John's father's name although I strongly suspect it too is John. John and Mary had sons with the above names (John,William and Samuel) so I doubt if the brothers would have been that closely replicated.

That is so interesting about Terrence playing with the Lawrence Welk band. I love his music. What instrument did Terrence play?

My grandfather was the first man to play two trombones at the same time.

Now, who were your birth parents, Doug?

I was adopted by a prominent federal attorney.Lived the life of Riley and wanted for nothing.I actually had it much better than my natural siblings but I would have liked to have been there for my brothers.

I think it is wonderful that you have found your birth parents.

California has the second strictist privacy laws in America. I had to break the law to find the records.It was a nightmare.

The blue border is for Scotland (my adopted family was also Scottish and my natural line is both Glasgow on my mother's side and northern highlander/Western Hebrides (Ross clan) on my father's maternal line).Green is for the luck of the Irish (for finding my people),my name in western style and my original name below in Celtic writing,orange for northern -Protestant-Ireland and the words "seek the truth" in Latin are in purple which traditionally is the color of mystery.The inset of a thumbprint signify's my identity.

Hi Shirley,
I thought you might find this amusing...I designed a couple of seals a few weeks ago. This one is for the George family.
The red border signifies bloodline, the blue and yellow are colors found on Scotland's and Wale's flags ,green is Ireland,the ship shows voyages both of migration and discovery.There is a skull and cross bones on the main sail which reflects our Viking pirate heritage in the Western Hebrides.(The Norse outcasts of Iceland settled in the Scottish islands and married the locals producing our ancestors. Hello!

My mind is currently going MUCH faster than I think my model was designed for :-) This is wonderful! I never expected to find anything on the Stones. In fact, with such a common name like that, I would probably not have tried. My wife maiden name is Stone and she has all SORTS of "fun" running down her history. My love of history is based on having had none of my own. As I mentioned, it's a long and sad story but it came out OK in the end regarding being adopted. A year ago, I had no idea as to anything pertaining to my blood family and now all this!

When I started to research John, the records always indicated he arrived here in 1791 but had been born in 1783. I therefore imagined he had been orphaned as most ships only listed head of family or individuals traveling alone although that thought never really settled well. Then ,last week, Betty sent her findings and we realized that he had a brother born in S.C. in 1791 so....back to square one with a bit of a gain.If I do the math correctly (and eighth grade was the best twelve years of my life so bear with me) Mary Stone would have been around 15-17 when she married John.I'm not even going to try to explain how excited I am you have information on Mary. I may now be able to go back into Irish records and find more on the family's early history. This is a great day.....wow.....

Fortunately, my kids all seem to have a interest in this. I think it's perhaps due to my having had to tell them to go ask their mom for a class history project etc since I had nothing to offer. It was always very frustrating to me. My wife's family are Starbuck/Coffin of Nantucket so history there was no problem. Not so for myself though.

ANYTHING you have. I can't wait for this....(It really is quite amusing...:-), I'm excited beyond words here.THANKS!! Keep emailing ! If there's any info I can offer back, just ask!

Subject: Hi Shirley

Hello again,
WOW!!!! You have all that!? Did YOU come to the right guy!!.....
I'm the ggg grandson of Samuel George. Francis,John jr. and William's brother.Long story but in a nut shell, I was given up for adoption at birth (accidently but it's hard to explain) and only last year at 50, found my family again.I'm working with one of my five brothers and a sister to write the family history. It helps that I've been hunting folks for 50 years in a way.
Anyway, the George family after William et al has a great history. Sam's grandson Terrence -my grandfather-played in the big bands with Shaw/Miller/Welk etc..and was in WW1. My dad was a Marine Raider,uncles were Darby's Rangers and 82nd Airborne in Normandy and the Bulge.Sam as you may know went to the Dakota territory in 1874 and started the first newspaper there as well as acting as a sheriff.We have a very interesting family.I would be EXTREMELY interested in ANYTHING you have. I'll gladly pay you for any copying etc you may need to do. I can't begin to tell you how excited I am reading your letter.I'm especially interested in anything on John.At first I thought that he had come to this country as a single child due to some records that we found.I now believe his parents had a son (Samuel) upon arrival in Charleston in 1791. I've traced John all the back to Antrim,Ireland and am very, very interested in eventually finding out more of our Irish history. BTW, My mother was born in Glasgow, Scotland -before the German air force decided to use her home as a bombing target in 1941.
Apologies if I'm running on here, the information you have is unbelievably important to us and I'm having a bit of trouble digesting the possibilities.Very much looking forward to hearing from you soon!
Doug Downie-George.

A HISTORY OF WAYNE COUNTY.

Habits and Pastimes—The Borah Family; Cannons, Owens, Halls—First and Second Settlements in County—First Schools and Churches; Gatherings of Old Settlers and Their Names—Nathan Atteberry—W. W. George; David Wright—Ellidges—Andrew Crews—Alexander Campbell—and Many Others—Incidents and Anecdotes; The Disappearance of the Indian—Wild Game, etc.

W. W. George was born in South Carolina November 15, 1810. He removed to Kentucky about 1818; remained there until 1824, when he removed to Illinois and settled in Gallatin county. He removed from there to White county, where he lived until 1830. He then removed to Wayne county, where he has resided ever since. He was married in Hamilton county, Illinois, November 1, 1827 to Miss Mary Maberry. He united with the M. E. church in 1842, in which he lived for several years, and afterwards united with the First Presbyterian church of Fairfield, where he remained until his death September 16, 1883.

He was the father of six children, who arrived at man-or womanhood, five of whom, Mary Shaw, Martha Atteberry, Olive Way, Meshech George, and William W. George are still living, and one, Helen Hendershott, is dead. Only two of his children, Mary Shaw and Martha Atteberry, are living here.

Long In Public Life.

Mr. George was continuously in public life from the time he attained his majority until his death. During this time there was one short period of eighteen months, during which he held no office. He was elected a Justice of the Peace, before he attained the age of twenty-one, and his commission was delayed until he arrived at legal age. He held the office of Justice of the Peace, forty-five years; was county Judge for four years; school commissioner six years; was also drainage commissioner for Wayne county, and two years commissioner on River Improvements undertaken by the state.

His father, John George, was born in Ireland, and when a child came to South Carolina, where he grew to manhood and married Mary Stone. She was born in South Carolina but was of Irish parentage. The father was in the war of 1812, after which in 1816 he removed to Kentucky, where he remained until 1824 at which time he removed to Illinois and settled in Gallatin county. In the last named county, and in White county, he spent the remainder of his life. From White county he went to the Black Hawk war serving until its close. He died in White county.

Whereas there is Shortly to be Solemnized a Marriage Between William George and Polly Mabery and it appearing to my Satisfaction that the Parents Have no objection to their being Joined together in the State of Matrimony These are therefore this will be a Sufficient warrant for any Legal officer of Hamilton county to Join them together in the Holy bands of Matrimony according to the Law direct.

Married.—On Christmas day, Dec. 25th, 1870, at the bride's residence in Jeffersonville, Ills., by Rev. Wm. M. Owen, Mr. W. W. George, of Fairfield, and Mrs. M. L. Branch of Jeffersonville.

Also, at the same time and place by the same minister, Mr. Charles J. Branch and Miss Louisa Harmon.

It would be cruel to mock these happy couples "A merry Christmas," but it is proper to express the hope that their entire married lives may be as joyous as the occasion of their nuptials.

Of course one of the biggest and best of cakes accompanied the above notices.

Konopasek Home, 205 W. Center On Register Of Historic Places

The home of Tom, Lisa and Hunter Konopasek at 205 West Center Street in Fairfield has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places by the U.S. Department of Interior. The historic home is considered a prime example of the Italianate-style of architecture.

The honor comes as the result of a three-year application process developed by Judith Puckett, president of the Wayne County Historical Society, in cooperation with the Konopaseks. Ms. Puckett researched the property, developed a written application, then worked with the staff at the Illinois Preservation Agency in Springfield. Final selections of Historic Registry buildings are made by the National Parks Service of the Department of Interior.

The home is officially listed as the "G. J. George house," since all National Registry structures are named by the original owner. Gilbert Jasper George, a Fairfield attorney and Civil War veteran, built the home in 1878. At that time it was the only structure on the block and faced the original "Old Main" portion of the public school on Center Street.

Deserved Recognition

"This National Registry listing is certainly proof that Fairfield has significant historical properties that deserve wider recognition," said Ms. Puckett. "The application process is detailed and strict, so that elevates the G. J. George house into a very selective category of historic properties.

"This is the first building in this county to receive this recognition," she added. "I am pleased for the Konopaseks, for Fairfield, and for our historical society. This is a major 'plus' for our town."

The Registry listing validates the fact that Fairfield has valuable historic properties that deserve permanent recognition and appreciation.

"Smart communities know that preserving selected historic structures plays a primary role in keeping the town's character and unity, as well as contributing to its attractiveness to visitors and industry," Ms. Puckett said. "On all levels from national to local, historic properties are becoming a growing factor in community identity and growth. This honor is a signal to the area that Fairfield leaders and residents recognize that role."

The exterior of the home exists in nearly original condition after previous owners, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cochran, removed a late addition and restored the original porch. The interior layout is also largely unchanged with the original staircase, woodwork, doorways, molding, and fireplaces. The Konopaseks have removed layers of wall covering and repapered with styles similar to the house's earliest period.

Prisoner Of War

G. J. George was born near Liberty (Burnt Prairie) in 1837. He enlisted in a Fairfield unit during the Civil War and quickly rose to leadership positions before the battle of Kennesaw Mountain. There it was believed he was killed–but later he was found to have been wounded and taken prisoner by the Confederacy. Another soldier was buried in his place and George's family received notice of his death. A prisoner for six months (including in the infamous Andersonville prison), he survived. He returned "to my resurrection" along with the clothes he had worn in the battle to become a well-respected lawyer, community leader, family man, and author. He played a primary role in the Newby trial, the most controversial case in Fairfield's history, and wrote a book in support of Newby.

Married to Emily Wilcox, the two raised four children in the Center Street residence that still stands much as it did when George had local builder, George

TURN ME GENTLY

William H. Wilson
April 19, 1861

Turn me gently when I'm dying,
Gently turn me to the sun;
Let me see the last ray fading
That will mark my journey's run.
When the pulse shall cease its beating;
And my limbs are growing cold,
Dress me in my Sunday wordrobe,
And my hands across me fold.

Place me in a modest casket -
Color, white, my choice would be;
Unadorned with costly fixtures -
Close the lid and turn the key.
Bear me to some quiet graveyard,
Where my resting place shall be,
If it please thee, brother stranger,
On my body, plant a tree.

Plant an evergreen with branches
Tending upward toward the sky,
Emblem unto all who pass it
That the soul will never die.
Or instead a weeping willow,
With its twigs bent to the ground -
Which will tell the body slumbers
In the dust beneath the ground.

Raise a marble slab not costly,
With its letters chizzled deep;
Emblem unto all who read it -
When and where I fell asleep.
Soars aloft to meet those loved ones,
Loved ones gone a step before,
'Cross the chilly stream of Jordan
Never to be parted more.

Sweetly in the grave so lowly
Let me rest where all is calm,
Where vain hope and fond delusions
And life's ills can do no harm.
Where the wicked cease from troubling
And the weary are at rest,
There I long to dwell forever -
Dwell forever with the best.

Hi Shirley!

My Uncle Doug wrote a book about his time with Darby's Rangers and afterwards.Included in the book are a few pages on my Grandfather who played with Welk and some history on their relationship. Ironically, I grew up in my adopted home watching Welk's show every Saturday night although my grandfather had long since left.Apparently, Welk and Grandfather had a blowup one night when Welk wanted him to wear a clown suit while playing.Grandfather argued with him, finally did the skit, threw his trombone across the stage after the curtain fell and left for good.

I'm including a few pages from his book for you.I don't have the actual book as I copied one of my brother's and then gave a copy to our father. Hope you can read what I'm sending.Hope all is well.

The lean thirties came along when the bottom dropped out in 1935. Lawrence Welk came through Sioux City and contacted our thirty-six year old Dad with a job offer in his eleven piece band. They had known each other since 1926, having met in West Point, Nebraska, a tank town in the eastern half of the corn husker state. That was the beginning of a fourteen year association that covered engagements in every top ballroom from coast to coast, including theatre and hotel appearances. Welk held the highest attendance records in every midwest ballroom through the big band era. That was a testimonial to the maestro's enduring popularity.

During a one-nighter in 1935, the band's sleeper bus rolled over in a snow storm. The first chair trombone spent eight days in hospital at Estherville, Iowa, and while he was laid up the Welk orchestra dedicated daily tunes to him for a full recovery. The band was playing radio broadcasts out of Yankton, South Dakota in WNAX studios between one night stands around the small town circuit.

The "Champagne Music" tag arose from an incident in 1999. The orchestra was playing at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh on New Year's Eve. A dancing couple cruised up to the bandstand and said to Lawrence, "Your music is as smooth as champagne." That brief comment became the Welk trademark from then on.

In 1948 in Venice, California Lawrence Welk's first bubble machine was devised by the sideman. There were "Champagne Bubbles" all over the lawn, but it worked and was still in use during the next two decades as the Welk show continued a soaring popularity on radio and television.

Back in the twenties and thirties Dad had played alongside Artie Shaw, who was a tenor sax and clarinet sideman in Austin Wylie's band in Cleveland. When playing in the orchestra pit band at Loews Theatre he met Buddy Rogers and taught the future husband of Mary Pickford how to play trombone. He was friends with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Glenn Miller and Rudy Vallee. Some of the all time great big band leaders he knew well sound like a who's who in Billboard, the celebrity sheet of the times. The many top musicians in his network of friends were a star studded cast including Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Sammy Kaye, Blue Baron, Russ Morgan, Kay Kyser, Tommy Tucker, Dick Jergens, Benny Goodman, Paul Whiteman and a young Frank Sinatra. Spike Jones and Ted Lewis both tried to hire the first chair trombone away from Welk but money was not a factor.

One of Welk's best musicians, a sidekick and a loyal friend retired professionally in 1949. Dad shelved his "King" trombone after all those years in the limelight.

From September 17, 1866, until August 30, 1991, the fine trombonist with a love of music led a fulfilling life. He had a fifty-five year marriage that rolled with the punches but survived through lean times and flourished in good times and was one of the better examples of a career musician's matrimonial endurance record.

There wasn't a lot missing in the life of Terrance E. George because there wasn't room for anything else other than what was accomplished during those 82 years. He was "First Chair" in every way.

LAWRENCE WELK'S WORSTEDS

We looked at all the maestro's suits
Tried some on and got some beauts
We well-dressed vets then hit the street
Dressed to the nines, so slick and neat.

The accordian-playing orchestra leader hardly ever bought a suit of clothes off the rack. Lawrence went for tailor-made suits and the cloth was expertly chosen to fit his personality, style and professional appearance. Although conservative, his tailors recognized a subtle flamboyancy in the maestro and masterfully matched the man to a distinct wardrobe.

Lawrence had a wardrobe of at least fifty custom made suits, more sports jackets and slacks than he could count and a wide supply of accessories from sweaters to shirts and shoes. He never went for extreme cuts or trends. A fad was out of the question. There were no hats on the shelves, either. With three or four residences in widespread locations, Welk's clothing inventory was huge. Often he would only wear a garment three or four times for various reasons. But the tailors kept busy and were well paid as designers who knew their subject well.

There were no smoke and mirror tricks about Lawrence Welk. What you saw was what you got. He was an enduring showman over the long years as the front man before some very professional musicians making "Champagne Music", or, as some critics labelled his rhythms, "the business man's bounce". Welk fed his solid, middle of the road arrangements to masses of fans who preferred what critics secondly called "corn fed mid-west music right out of the barn". But Mr. Welk prevailed.

His musicians, tailors and followers gently led him to the top, even though he could not read a note of music. He was indeed a paradox. With a charming manner, and as a tough task master, his fortunes grew fast and high. Lawrence Welk became a self-made millionaire and a most benevolent one at that. He was never in conflict with his talents and firmly believed in those natural gifts from above, by living a private life of exemplary behaviour. The maestro was a devout family man, a generous friend and very spiritual in thought.

Our Dad played first trombone with the Welk orchestra for fourteen years, from the mid thirties through to the end of the forties. They were good friends from the two neighboring states of the Dakotas.

Dad invented Welk's first bubble machine in the forties when the band introduced the trademark "Champagne Music". They played golf together, became camera bugs and shared a deep love of music, along with the respect of many notables and celebrities of that era.

Both guys were the same size. Welk was five years younger than the sideman but they had even weight, height and waistlines. With those interchangeable parts, Lawrence's tailor-mades draped perfectly on either man. So, it was a natural that Dad came into some very classy worsteds, free of charge at all times, when a style change occurred or when the "Beau Brummel" cleaned out his suit closets. Every now and then it was a big sale - 100% off. Brother Bill and I came on the scene after the war's end with no wardrobe other than what a short-ended mustering out pay would buy. With plenty of partying expenses we had sweet tweet left for clothes. Other brother Terry was in the same boat. His marine payout was no better than the army "thank you for services rendered".

With all of the extra Welk worsteds around, we fell heir to some of the finest dress wear a man could hope for. The suits were hardly worn and fitted just right after some "take in here and there" altering. On short rations, with lots of exercise before joining the civilian scene, we were leaner than the two musicians. We were soon three of the sharpest vets around, although our jobs paid only chicken feed.

Lawrence Welk was a generous man who gave three hard pressed vets plenty of able assistance to drop into the civilian work force. We were right up there with the big boys when it came to sartorial splendour. Welk's show biz kisser lit up like a floodlight when we took a few armloads of beautiful suits off his hands.

He was a class act and a real clothes horse.

FIRST CHAIR TROMBONE

When the band begins to play and the dancers start to sway,
There's not a sweeter tone than the first chair trombone.

There have been some remarkable musicians in my memory who embellished the mysteries of music with their own distinctive styles. Crescendos flowing from violins, piano and saxophones excited the ear at times, though no sound stirred my soul like a trombone. Mellow tones from a French horn and a slide trombone caressed the sentimental side of my personality.

Once a brass band and drums began to play a rousing Sousa march, my propensity for martial sounds would be fired up. But dancing, not marching, was my way.

When the wind reeds wailed soft tones and the rhythm section brushed its way into gliding dance patterns across the polished ballroom floor, I was enchanted by the big band sounds, and fought against falling head over heels for the graceful girl in my arms. No doubt about it, I was enraptured with the wonderments of music floating over the swaying, dipping and twisting crowd of dancers, spellbound by the ballads.

Trombone solos were favorites of mine. Tommy Dorsey's theme "Sentimental Over You" was, in my opinion, the greatest of them all. When Al Green played "Making Whoopee" it sent chills up my spine. There were others like Glenn Miller who played trombone while fronting harmonic tenor saxes, in unison with the clarinets on the melody. The great dance bands softened up some hard realities during the 'thirties and forties, helping the hard times' desperation fade away on the floors of the nation's ballrooms.

One of the dedicated sidemen giving the music world of the time a lot of class and talent was a gregarious trombonist. He could play "Nola" better with his foot moving the slide than most others pumping with the arm. That's a Lawrence Welk quote.

Terrance (Terry) Ellsworth George came from a musical family of five who all played instruments under bandmaster Clyde George, also a journalist. When nine years of age T.E. took on the violin and continued playing until World War I. He then joined an army field artillery outfit at seventeen, bringing along his French horn for ninety day service in the regimental band before the war ended. Sister Viola had taught him how to play the horn, one of the most difficult brass sounds of all to master.

After the armistice, Terry decided that the only way he wished to earn a living was by playing the trombone. So, self-taught and proficient, he launched into a musical life by forming Clyde Grant's Dixieland Band with four others. They started playing small South Dakota towns before the early twenties.

It was a big world out there. In 1920 Terry and brother Elgin answered a Billboard magazine notice for a couple of musicians to play a resort in Knoxville, Tennessee. After a seven month tenure, they boarded the Chautauqua circuit, touring southern states. They played trombone and trumpet with a variety of Dixieland bands such as the Harmony Boys and O'Bannon's Rag-o-Maniacs. In 1923 the mellow note sideman joined Austin Wylie's Gold Pheasant Band, performing for seven years at one of Cleveland's most popular dining palaces.

Radio stations such as WTAM in Cleveland had studio orchestras in those days. With banana oil on the slide and a sharp ear for the tunes people wanted to hear, Dad played throughout the roaring twenties in theatres, road houses and on radio as well.

Samuel George died at his home in Olivet, So. Dak., on the 8th inst., in the 75th year of his age. Deceased was born in Henry county, Tenn., and at the age of 24 moved to Wayne county, Ill. His first wife was Miss Elizabeth C. Griffin, to whom he was married in Feb., 1848. She died in 1866, leaving nine children. He afterwards married Mrs. Rebecca J. Blankenship, who survives him. He moved to Dakota in 1874 and took up a homestead near Olivet. He had frequently been called to serve the public—as justice of the peace, as deputy sheriff, and as postmaster of Olivet during the Harrison administration. He was again appointed as postmaster at that place after the election of President McKinley, which office he held at the time of his death. He established the first successful newspaper in Hutchinson county, So. Dak., and his son, Elmer, is now editor and publisher of the Olivet Leader, a well edited paper. Deceased was a brother of Francis and 'Squire W. W. George, who will be remembered by all of our older citizens, and he was an uncle of G. J. George of this city. WCP 1-19-1899

HON. DIOS C. HAGLE, attorney, Louisville, is a native of Brown County, Ohio, and was born September 11, 1839. His parents, Abraham and Mary (Williams) Hagle, were natives of Virginia, who emigrated from Brown County, Ohio, to Jefferson County, Ill., in 1841. Mr. Hagle was brought up on his father's farm, and attended the common schools. Upon the breaking-out of the rebellion, he endeavored to join an Illinois regiment, but finding that the quota for this State was complete, he enlisted in Company D of the Eleventh Regiment Missouri Volunteer Infantry, and participated in the battles of Corinth. luka, siege of Vicksburg, through the Red River campaign and others. After the war, he farmed for two years, when he came (in 1867) to Louisville and began the study of law, being admitted to the bar in 1868. During the time from 1874 to 1877, Mr. Hagle practiced law in and near Yankton, Dakota Territory. While there he was a member of the Dakota Legislature, and was Speaker of the House during the twelfth session of that assembly. He is now State's Attorney for Clay County, and enjoys a large practice outside of his official work. Mr. Hagle is a member of the Masonic fraternity.

Christmas 2011

Another year has passed! The older I get, the faster the years go. We hope you have had a good year and the coming year is a great one for you.

We had our first family reunion here in Fort Wayne this summer. There were 30 of us out of the 41 we have in our family. We just had a wonderful time and the cousins all enjoyed seeing each other so much. We are planning on another reunion next summer.

By the next one, we will have 43 in the family. Dave's daughter Stephany is expecting around the Fourth of July and Dan's daughter Lisa is adopting a baby girl from Western Samoa. We are like the United Nations here – the in-laws are Polish, Mexican, Italian and Australian and one great grandson is from the Philippines and one is from Russia. Of course, this makes interesting genealogy for me.

The fellow will be here this morning to start painting inside. I wanted it done earlier but I goofed that up! I had to have gallbladder surgery Halloween. I got along fine and as the boys like to say "I'm a tough old bird"! Of course, I got that way raising them. Ha! When the painting is done, we are going to replace the carpet. I dread going through all this but it just takes one time to do it and it's needing to be done.

The genealogy still keeps me busy. I talked with the Fort Wayne Library last week and they will take all the genealogy material I have when I no longer need it. I wasn't sure what the boys would do with all this. I had visions of them pulling up a dumpster to the front window and tossing it all in but we now have a place for all this to go. What a relief!

Dan is still town manager in North Manchester and Dave is still working for Delphi in Marion. Andy has retired from GM but keeps busy with all those rentals he has and Mauri has a full time job taking care of me with Chad's help. We all keep busy caring for our little Bandit. He is such a precious little Dog.

We hope you all have had a good year and that the New Year will be a happy, healthy one for you. Our best to all of you and yours.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!

IN 1832 FREDRICK MAYBERRY WAS A SOLDIER IN THE BLACK HAWK WAR, UNDER CAPT JAMES HALL OR CAPT. ARDEN BIGERSTAFF. HE HAD FOUR SONS FREDRICK, GEORGE JACOB & SOLOMAN HARRISON & TWO OF HIS BROTHERS WERE IN THE BLACKWAR 18
MARGIE WAS THE WIFE OF JAMES H. BROWN
MAYBERRY PRESINCT WAS NAMED AFTER FREDRICK. HE WAS AN EARLY SETTLER IN HAMILTON CO.

of x and y are observed there is no difficulty in determining the quadrant for θ. Thus for $x = -2$, $y = -5$, $\tan\theta = \frac{5}{2}$ but since both x and y are negative, θ is an angle in the third quadrant and not in the first (assuming that a positive value is chosen for ρ)

Thus, change the hyperbola $xy = 4$ to polar coordinates. Substitute $x = \rho\cos\theta$, $y = \rho\sin\theta$ $\rho^2\sin\theta\cos\theta = 4$ which may be written

$$\rho^2 = 8\csc 2\theta \text{ since } 2\sin\theta\cos\theta = \sin 2\theta$$

Find the equation in rectangular coordinates of $$\rho = 4\sin\theta + 6\cos\theta.$$

If we multiply both sides by ρ, we have

$$\rho^2 = 4\rho\sin\theta + 6\rho\cos\theta$$

or $$x^2 + y^2 = 4y + 6x$$

This new equation has the solution $\rho = 0$ for every value of θ as a result of our introducing the factor ρ on both sides of the equation, which means that every line through the pole cuts the curve at the pole. But this was already the case for the original equation is satisfied by $\rho = 0$, $\theta = \arctan(-\frac{3}{2})$ and hence its graph passes through the pole.

Exercises (Art. 31)

1. Sketch the curve $x^2 + y^2 = 4y + 6x$

2. Deduce (in rectangular coordinates) the equation of the path of a point which moves so that the product of its distances from two given points is constant and equal to the square of half the distance between the points (Take the mid-point of the given segment ... origin and the x-axis through the given points).

... equation of Ex. (2) to polar coordinates and plot.

... rectangular coordinates $\rho^2 = 9\sin 2\theta$

Hambleton County

Personally appeared in open court before William Allen, a member of the county commisioners court of the county and state afforesaid Fredrick Mayberry, age 78 yeard who being first duly sworn according to love doth on his oath make the following declaration in order to obtain the benefit of the act of Congress, passed 7 June, 1832, that he entered the service of the United States under the following named officers and served as herin stated.

That in the year 1781, he, then living in the state of Cirginia, Bedford County, he volunteered under Capt. Thomas Dooley and was employed in rangeing and scouting after the Tories. After rendeyvouing at Capt. Dooleys we marched as mounted men in pursuit of the Tories to Stanton River, state of Virginia, where we took two Tories and sent them to jail.

From there we marched to Goos Creek about twenty five or thirty east of Virginia, from there we marched to Otter River, state of Virginia, from there we returned home having served sixteen days.

After staying home eight or ten days he again was called out under Capt. Downey. We marched and took near the same route as above mentioned, in pursuit of the Tories, the Tories having fled. After destroying considerable property belonging to the Tories, we returned home having served this tour fifteen days, and that in the year 1782, first of April, he was drafted for three months under Capt. Isaac Ota, that he rendeyvoued at Bedford Courthouse, state of Virginia, Bedford County. From there we marched to Richmond, state of Virginia, from there we marched to Port Smith, state of Virginia, where we fell under the command of Cole Willard (or Skillard).

After laying at Port Smith about three weeks we marched from Port Smith, we marched about three thousand in number, we marched after cutting a road through a cane break, seven miles, then we marched on to James River, about thirty or forty miles below Richmond where we stayed about one or two weeks.

Having served three months and was legally discharged by Capt. Ota but that they detained two weeks. After the three months tour was out before he obtained his discharge.

He then returned home, a distance of three hundred miles which took the applicant seventeen days, which added to the two weeks above mentioned, would make one month.

And that in the year 1782, he was called out again under Capt. Cummins, first of August and rendeyvoued at Redford Courthouse, state of Virginia. From there they marched to Richmond, state of Virginia, from there they marched about one hundred miles below Richmond on to, or near, James River where we stopped about one week. We were compelled to retreat something like thirty or forty miles south of James River where we stopped three or four days. We then returned purty much the same route and crossed James River where we lay something over three weeks.

Then was discharged by Capt. Cummin, having served two months and one week, we then returned home, a distance of something more than two hundred and fifty miles which took the applicant two weeks to perform.

He hereby relinquishes every claim whatsoever to a pension or annuity except the present one, and claims that his name is not on the pension roll of any state whatever.

Margaret Henry Mayberry, born in Lincoln Co., Tenn, died in Marion Co., Ark., on 22 Feb. 1854. She is said to have been a second cousin of Patrick Henry.

Henry Mayberry served in the Revolution, as shown in the Auditor's Account Books, Vol. 32, (M.S) in Virginia State Library, Richmond, Va.

Record Book, Hamelton District, on file in Tennessee State Library.
To the Honorable the Judges of the Territory South of the River of Ohio: the bill of James Turman complainant, vs. Frederick Mayberry, respondent: Humbly sheweth to your Honors, that your Orator in the month of September in the year of Our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, purchased a steer from Frederick Mayberry for the sum of fifty-five shillings, Virginia money, which sum your orator agreed to pay in goods out of store, except the sume of threee shillings, six pence, or thereabouts which the said Frederick told your orator he must receive in cash. Your orator directly afterwards, vz.: on the same day the purchase was made went into the store with the said Frederick Mayberry and delivered his goods to the amount of fifty-five shillings, Virginia money, except the three shillings and six pence, which your orator paid to the said Frederick in cash, your orator well remembers the delivery of five yards or upwards of broad cloth and several yards of fine linen in payment for the aforesaid steer, and that those goods were delivered to the said Frederick on the same day in which the purchase was made. Sometime afterwards the said Frederick Mayberry purchased other goods of your orator to the amount of three pounds Virginia Money or thereabouts for which he agreed to give your orator beef cattle at fifteen shillings per hundred to be paid the fall following or when your orator should call on him for that purpose. Your orator saith that after the time of payment expired he procured a Summons to be issued against the said Frederick, etc., etc. Signed: James Turman. Court in Hamelton District, 2nd Monday of October; 29 Sept. 1794.

Frederick Mayberry made a will in Oct. 1801 in Bedford Co., Virginia.

Henry Mayberry who settled in Hickman Co., Tennessee, married Mary Carnes, daughter of Gabriel and Dorcus Carnes, all born in Germany. The exact date of Henry's death has not been established, but Dr. H. H. Mayberry, a descendant living in Nahville, Tenn., says he died shortly after the election of Andrew Jackson for President the last time, and this is known to be a fact for it is family knowledge that he made the statement he was happy he was spared to cast that vote. He never cast another.

Frederick Mayberry is thought ot have been the eldest child of Henry. He was a giant in size. It is said he was a rather bad man and kept the people in the surrounding territory in terror and after so long he moved to Arkansas where he was killed about 1835-40.

Other children of Henry included; Peter, one of the oldest children; George Washington, the youngest child; Mike; Gabriel; John; Dosia, married a Mr. Russell; Durbon, married Mr. Fly; Hannah, married Mr. Kinzer; and Clara, married Mr. Walker. There may have been other children as well.

nary gives one definition of this word as "a false, deceitful fellow."

When playing bridge, beware of the knave. If declarer leads an unsupported jack from the dummy, it might not be in your best interest to cover with the queen, even if you have the 10 as well.

Suppose declarer opened one heart and his partner raised to four hearts. In hearts, the dummy holds J-9-7-6-4, while you, sitting over the dummy, are clasping Q-10-3. Declarer gets into the dummy and asks for the heart jack. A good play, but don't fall for it. Play low smoothly. Declarer must have A-K-8-5-2. He is trying to persuade you to cover, in which case he will pick up the suit for no losers, later finessing you out of your 10. If you play low, he is bound to put up his king, expecting a 2-1 break.

However, if you do fall for that ruse, don't feel too depressed. I saw a player with countless world team titles to his name get it wrong.

KAREN SUE BUTLE

Couple

Gordon and Lola Butler of Batavia and Wanda and William Trentt of Batavia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Sue Butler, to Rene' Cruz, son of SGM USA (Ret.) Florencio and Celia Cruz of San Carlos, Panama.

Karen is the granddaughter of Mrs. Rachel Butler of Dahlgren, and Mrs. Esther Winesburgh of Keenes.

The bride-to-be is a 1991 graduate of Batavia Senior High in Batavia. She works at the Kane County Sheriff's that you city slickers are stewin' in your own juice. Around here an exciting time is pitchin' pennies at a sidewalk crack, and we also do some penny-pinchin' in these parts too. You folks in the big city ought to try that sometime and if you wanna put a billion dollar dome on top of your city or some fancy new stadium, that's fine with us. But we think you ought to pay for it.

Frankly, if you city folks don't have any friends outside your city limits, maybe there's a reason. Admittedly, not too many folks in these parts are fond of the city of Chicago. That's maybe because Chicago for years has been (successfully) grabbing 90 percent of the candy in the Illinois budget, with just half the population within its borders. It's probably immodest on our part to think we're entitled to a crum or two down here in deep Southern Illinois.

As far as Chicago is concerned, there's some in these parts who would be tickled pink if the Windy City became the 51st state. Incidentally, that title for your Chicago town seems to fit.

AGED MAN DID NOT SEEM ILL

CDI 8.1 ——— 8-28-31

North Carmi Resident Went to Bed Last Night in Seemingly Usual Good Health.

Another of Carmi's pioneer residents died early this, Thursday morning, when James Mayberry was found dead in bed. The body was discovered at seven o'clock this morning.

Mr. Mayberry, who was about eighty years of age, made his home on North Seventh street. Last night he retired at about his usual hour, seemingly feeling well and in good spirits.

This morning efforts to awaken him were futile and death had occurred sometime during the night, probably from heart failure.

Deceased had been a resident of this city for many years and was a man liked by everyone. In spite of his eighty years he appeared hale and hearty and although he had been slightly ailing the past few weeks his condition was not considered serious.

Mr. Mayberry, whose wife has been dead for some years, is survived by two sons, Chelsey and Orvil. Another son was accidentally killed about five years ago when participating in a charivari.

Funeral arrangements for Mr. Mayberry had not been made at the time this newspaper went to press.

Walter Scott and family of Wood River are here attending the Fair.

Welfare mistakes and fraud cost $1 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — State agencies overpaid welfare recipients by $1 billion in 1991 because of fraud and mistakes, according to a federal survey.

At the same time, thousands of other low-income families with children were improperly denied welfare benefits by state and county workers responsible for deciding eligibility for Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

The survey by the Department of Health and Human Services measures mistakes by agency employees and fraud and errors by welfare recipients. It found that overpayments accounted for $1 billion of the $20.7 billion paid to low-income families in 1991, an error rate of 4.96 percent and the lowest on record.

Conservative welfare experts say the survey fails to measure more sophisticated or hard-to-catch fraud by recipients who work off the books or by using phony IDs, hide assets, claim fictitious children, or double dip and collect benefits in two states or counties.

But liberals complain that caseworkers put more effort into keeping errors down than helping single mothers on welfare become self-sufficient.

The question of welfare fraud is especially sensitive as the Clinton administration drafts a plan to pump billions of new dollars into the welfare system to help low-income mothers get the skills, education and child care they need to get off welfare and into the work force.

Efforts to fight welfare fraud are rarely mentioned in the administration's draft plans to overhaul AFDC. And the Clinton administration on April 1 began cutting back the federal government's share of the cost of investigating both AFDC and food stamp fraud.

States and the federal government divide the expenses of running AFDC and providing cash benefits to 5 million low-income families with children. State or local employees decide eligibility and investigate fraud.

Rep. Ron Wyden, D-Ore., chairman of the House Small Business subcommittee on regulation, says the AFDC survey is the latest evidence of substantial fraud in the nation's welfare programs, set against a backdrop of federal cuts for local fraud investigators.

"These are potential daggers aimed at the heart of welfare reform," said Wyden.

"If you have mistakes in both directions — deserving people losing out and people who are undeserving taking advantage and exploiting the system — it undermines your ability to show that the government can really use resources wisely and implement overall reform," Wyden said.

In addition to the overpayments, the government's survey shows that tens of thousands of families were improperly denied benefits, including 15,057 in Texas, 13,266 in Florida and 11,955 in California.

Mike Genest, deputy director for welfare programs in the California Department of Social Services, is also critical of the Clinton administration for cutting spending on anti-fraud efforts. He said welfare fraud has been ignored by officials drafting the president's welfare reform plan.

Execution looms

Gacy recalls past, protests sentence

NEW YORK (AP) — John Gacy Jr. says he did kill one young man, but that was self-defense, and the other 32 deaths he's convicted of in Illinois were the work of someone else.

Gacy, scheduled to be executed May 10, says he still hopes to clear his name and that his scrapbook on the 33 young men and boys may help. His attorney plans to file a new round of appeals this week.

The 52-year-old Gacy, convicted of more murders than anyone else in U.S. history, gave his first in-depth interview in 16 years to Alex Wilkinson, a staff reporter with The New Yorker.

"My idea is, if I didn't kill them, and I had no knowledge of them, then who did they know?" Gacy said. "If I didn't do the murders, then we have to find out who did them by finding out about the victims and cross-referencing them," he said "If you can't find out the who, what, and why, where are you going to go?" he said.

Police questioned the two men after Gacy's 1978 arrest and found no reason to believe they had taken part in the crimes.

Twenty-seven of the victims' bodies were buried in the crawl space of Gacy's home.

He admits to killing one, a boy he says he picked up at a Greyhound bus station and had sex with, then killed after the boy attacked him with a knife from his kitchen, the magazine says.

Gacy denies he ever confessed to the other crimes. Police say he did, though they didn't record the confessions.

"I was arrested on December 21st, and I took 130 milligrams of Valium, and I woke up on December 26th wondering why I was tied to the bed," he said.

His scrapbook of victims has 33 sections, one for each victim, with photographs and any information that Gacy has been able to collect about the individual. He has had assistance from an unnamed person

Prints Father's Life Artifacts Collection

By Jason A. Tait

Bruce Mayberry successfully captures his deceased father's passion for artifacts in his newly published pictorial The History of Mayberry Mounds.

Noted Sims artifact collector Ora B. Mayberry spent much of his life collecting Native American historical pieces like arrow heads, axes, and knives.

O.B. asked his son to sell his photographs and Indian artifacts if he died, but his sudden death in a 1994 car wreck came sooner than expected.

"After he died, I dug up all the old photographs," Mayberry said. "And the book just came together."

Where Migraters Stopped

The book celebrates the Mayberry Mounds, one of the stopping points for migrating Native Americans hundreds of years ago which is named after O.B. It is recognized by the Smithsonian Institute and was entered in the National Register of Historic Places in 1978.

Most of the artifacts printed in Mayberry's book are from the Mayberry Mounds.

The Mounds are located south of Sims near the Skillet Fork River and old Bloomfield School, and still yields collectibles.

Mayberry grew up near the Mounds, but now lives in Bluford.

"The book contains mostly pictures from my father's collection, but it also contains many pictures which typify life in Wayne County ranging from the Civil War to the 1980s," Mayberry said.

The two disk-like objects were used in a game by the Indians. Also shown are several deer horn artifacts, two drills, a large spear head, and several miscellaneous artifacts.

Mayberry Mounds Founder Ora B. Mayberry.

Loved Their Weapons

The book's introduction tells the story of the artifact's origins:

Once there was a race of men, both white and red, who had a great appreciation of their weapons. They carried this love to an art form, a hobby, and to some, almost an obsession.

These weapons became an obsession for Mayberry's father, and now, it seems, for his son.

We, and each of us, do solemnly swear, that we will well and truly, without partiality or prejudice, value and appraise the goods, chattels and personal estate of Ennis Mabary deceased, so far as the same shall come to our sight and knowledge; and that we will in all respects perform our duties as appraisers, to the best of our skill and judgment.

PLEASE READ THIS LAW.

"By an act of the Legislature of this State, in force July 1, 1872, it is declared that "the widow, residing in this State, of a deceased husband, whose estate is administered in this State, whether her husband died testate or intestate, shall, in all cases, in exclusion of debts, claims, charges, legacies and bequests, except funeral expenses, be allowed as her sole and exclusive property forever, the following, to-wit: The family pictures and the wearing apparel, jewels and ornaments of herself and her minor children; school books and family library of the value of one hundred dollars; one sewing machine; necessary beds, bedsteads and bedding for herself and family; the stove and pipe used in the family, with the necessary cooking utensils (or in case they have none, fifty dollars in money); household and kitchen furniture to the value of one hundred dollars; one milch cow and calf for every four members of the family; two sheep for each member of her family, and the fleeces taken from the same, and one horse, saddle and bridle; provisions for herself and family for one year; food for the stock above specified for six months; fuel for herself and family for three months; one hundred dollars' worth of other property suited to her condition in life, to be selected by the widow." By the same act it is directed that the appraisers shall make out and certify to the County Court, an estimate of the value of each of these articles of specific property allowed to the widow.

☞ On this page will be found a blank to be filled and signed by the Appraisers for this purpose.

☞ Much difficulty is occasioned in many instances by Appraisers mistaking the ESTIMATE FOR THE WIDOW as part of the appraisement. IT IS NOT A PART OF THE APPRAISEMENT, and it is no matter whether the Estate has the particular articles mentioned in the following table, or whether there is nothing of the sort among the property of the Estate. The appraisers will take each item in its order, and estimate what it ought to be worth, and what it would be fair to allow the widow therefor, and then set down the estimated value in the columns headed DOLLARS. CENTS. Do not pass any item by. If the Estate has not got those articles, the widow can take their estimated value in other things or in cash. Don't alter the printed amounts in the column, as they are established by law, and cannot be changed.

Having finished your estimate, foot it up, and that footing will be the amount of the widow's allowance, which she can take in the above articles, if the Estate has them, or in any other things at the appraised value, or in money.

☞ Recollect that the above estimate is not appraising. Having completed the estimate, go on and appraise EVERY article of personal property belonging to the Estate, OMITTING NOTHING, and set them down with their prices in the Appraisement Bill following.

The Appraisers having nothing to do with Notes, Accounts, Stocks in Companies, or any other papers, as they cannot be appraised, such things must be left out of the Appraisement Bill entirely. They are proper matters to be listed in the inventory, filled by the Executor or Administrator, which is a separate matter from the Appraisement Bill.

APPRAISERS' ESTIMATE OF THE VALUE OF PROPERTY ALLOWED TO THE WIDOW.

We, the undersigned, appraisers appointed by the Judge of the County Court of Wayne County to appraise and value the goods, chattels and personal estate of Ennis Mabary deceased, do hereby make and certify to said Court the following estimate of the value of each article of specific property allowed by law to the widow, for herself and family, to-wit:

WILLIAM STONE, THE IMMIGRANT

First Generation

1. William Stone was born about 1740 in Londonderry, Ireland and died 9 January 1812 in Williamson County, Tennessee. He was a farmer. Family history states that William planned to come alone to America and send for his family later. Rowland, age nine, slipped aboard ship and wasn't discovered in time to be put ashore, so the two of them arrived in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania in 1773. The rest of the family came the following year. William and his family stayed in Pennsylvania for five years. We have no way of knowing why they left Ireland and came to the new world. Although most Scots-Irish came because of poor economic conditions in their home country, a descendant of William Stone, Jr. is quoted as saying, "William Stone, Sr. was given a citation by the king of England for some service he had rendered for his country. It was several pages and beautifully written." Unfortunately, this document was destroyed by fire, and we are left wondering whether economic conditions changed, if he fell out of favor with the powers that be, if he wanted to join relatives in America, or if some other reason influenced his decision.

He had married Jane in Londonderry. She was born in 1745 in Londonderry, Ireland, and died in 1828, probably in Williamson County, Tennessee. Although she was in living in Georgia when William's estate was settled, her will was written in Williamson County, Tennessee in March of 1827 and probated there on 13 October 1828. Jane's will is transcribed later in this chapter.

OUR DERRY STONES

Our Stone ancestors, we have no hard proof, but are fairly certain these are ours. "Pat" Brunson has talked with REC on the phone several times and we are in agreement that until someone proves us wrong, we will go with this.

We know nothing of the life of William and Jane Stone in Ireland. We can only assume that they were born and married there as the first three of their children were born there. A descendnt of William Stone, Jr. gives this story (again unproven) that William Stone, Sr. was given a citation by the King of England for some service he had rendered for his country. It was several pages and beautifully written. The document burned in the home of a Dr. N. C. Reeves. A William Stone was knighted by the King of England, but surely not ours or he would have been Sr. William. Information from FAMILY RECORDS, CALLOWAY CO. KY. states that William was a member of the Presbyterian Church. This along with his residence in Londonderry indicates that he was Scotch-Irish. The residents of Londonderry were, and are now, citizens of Britain and generally loyal to the British Crown. Perhaps William was still loyal when he decided to emigrate, but changed his mind after being in America for a few years.

They came to America in 1773. Williams had intended to come alone and then send for his family, but son Rowland, age 9, slipped aboard and was not discovered until too late to send him back. They landed in Philadelphia. His wife and other children came the following year. They remained in Philadelphia for five years 1773-1778. William and family moved to South Carolina in 1778, to the Old 96th District, Abbeville County, where they lived for the next thirty years 1778-1808. He moved to Williamson Co. Tenn. where he died intestate in 1811.

William Stone, Sr. and his son both served in the Revolutionary War in the South Carolina Militia. They both have records in the South Carolina Archives. William's in Book AA p. 7432, p 1 bb - 17 bb. Description - Revolutionary War Audit Account of William Stone 995Y No. 98 - 26 Jan 1780 - William Stone (Georgetown District) for 63 days duty in Capt. Joseph Greaves Company, Col. Giles Regiment of Militia in 1780. 37 days as Private in Capt. Robert Elliots Co., Col. Ervin's Regiment in 1782 - 73 days as a Waggoner under Col. Swenton (?) in 1782. (Some figuring of money due him) came to 15 pds 12 shillings. The second page is a paper William Stone signed (with his mark) dated 18 Sep 1786.

Tax Records in Williamson Co., show he had owned 640 acres of land on Big Harpeth River. At his death he owned only 122 acres in Willianson Co. located on Mill Creek. Evidently he either sold or distributed some land to his children before his death. At the January 1812 Term of Williamson Co. court, his widow, Jane and his son, Willliam, Jr. were appointed administrators of the estate. They took inventory on 9 Jan 1812 and recorded the inventory in Records and Examination BK. # 1 p. 285-6. They sold some personal property on 14 Sep 1812 and recorded the sale in BK 1 p. 286-7. There was another sale on 7 Feb 1813 - recorded in Bk 1 p.333. At the October session of the court, two men were appointed commissioners to settle with William and Jane Stone relative to their administratlion of the estate. in January 1816, the commissioners examined the vouchers and signed that they had settled with all the legatees.

On 29 Dec 1812, Edward Stone - son of William and Jane was killed. (See FGS) Therefore, when the distribution of the estate was made, Elizabeth, widow of Edward represented the children of Edward. At the distributlion of the estate all of the heirs agreed to put everything into a "hotchpot". That is everything each of them had received from their father in his lifetime was placed in a common pot. The value of everything was totaled and equally divided by 10, for each child. The value of all that each had received or owed the estate was subtracted from the total of the shares.

Sometime after the distribution, Elizabeth changed her mind about putting everything into the "hotchpot". She refused to accept any of the estate. Edward's share under the "hotchpot" was only $14.47 3/4 cents after his debts to the estate were paid.

In March 1820, she sued for a full and complete accounting of everything William, Sr. owned at his death, everything he had given his children in his lifetime, how much profit had been derived from the slaves owned by William, how much land he owned, etc. The law suit went on until 1825 when a decree was issued. The Court found that Jane, the widow, was due a dower right of the land and that the children of Edward were due one nineth of the remainder. The decree ordered that the complainants (ELizabeth and her children) pay the costs of this cause already accrued and that the future cost be suject to the court on a final hearing. There is nothing more in the Archives files to indicate any additional action on the suit.

(Note-REC. Elizabeth must have decided further action was to no avail and she surely was sorry she had started this mess. This must have caused family relationships to be quite strained. Our ancestor, Mary (Stone) George was in Kentucky with her family in 1816-1824, moving to Illinois, Galletin Co., later White Co.

The court documents plainly stsate that William had 10 children, all alive at this death and then names them (see FGS). William was in the 1790 census in Abbeville Co., 96th Districk, S.C. p.60. He was on the 1800 census same place.

Family Records, Calloway Co. Ky. shows a Mary Stone married to a Thomas Gray. Since she is not reflected in the lawsuit, she is not listed as a daughter. A Thomas Gray married a granddaughter of William. The daughter "Polly", married to John George is listed in the lawsuit document as both Polly and Mary. "Polly" was a very popular nickname for Mary.

Her death date between Mar 1827 (date of her will) and Oct 1828 (date probated. Her surname is unproved, but so many of her descendants used the name .

CHILD 1 - Unknown STONE-1474
This first child is believed to have been killed in the Rev.War. There is a story, perhaps unproven, that this son was home from the war when British soldiers came to the family home looking for anything they could get. Wjen the family would not divulge the location of their seed corn, the soldiers grabbed this son and took him out in the yard and stomped him to deth in front of the entire family. This event caused Rowland to enlist in the Army at the age of 16 to take his brother's place. Drafted Aug 1780.

CHILD 2 - Rowland STONE-1475
Resided in Williamson Co.TN in 1820. Was named in a lawsuit as son of William. IN SAME'S WILL

CHILD 3 - John STONE-1476 named in lawsuit as son of William. NOT IN MOTHER'S WILL

CHILD 4 - William STONE, JR.-1477
Little is known of William except that he had 9 children by his unknown first wife and 6 by his 2nd wife, Lydia Bell whom her marr. in 1826. Named in lawsuit as son of William. ~~Died~~ IN MOTHER'S WILL

CHILD 5 - Richard STONE-1478

She was on 1820 Census in S.C. She died in Georgia. Named in lawsuit. IN MOTHERS WILL

CHILD 8 - Mary STONE-139
If this is indeed our Mary Stone, she and family to Kentucky and then to White Co. Ill. IN MOTHER'S WILL

CHILD 9 - Edward STONE-1481
Edward was shot on the night of 29 Dec 1812 by John Smith, planter. He had three dollars in his left breast pocket (don't believe the money had anything to do with the shooting-REC). Edward had five mortal wounds the depth of four inches. He died in the dwelling house of John Smith. Edward was a shoemaker. Bond was made for John Smith by several other planters. On the back of the papers written-" John Smith ought and will be hung for murdering most wickedly and deliberately, Edward Stone." There were 6 children and his wife filed suit against Edward's family - see narrative.

Death: Nov. 14, 1780, USA

There is much discussion about Jacob Yoakam and his ancestors that has been going on for years. Please feel free to join-in, correct and send edits. As always, verify facts for yourself and use this memorial only as a springboard for further research.

By some accounts, Jacob Yoakam was born on May 8, 1730, Tulpehocken Creek, Berks PA, to Matthias Yocum, (b. 1706, New Amsterdam), and Eleanor See or Zeh, (b.1712). The See/Yoakam marriage is disputed by some geneologists- but is maintained by enough serious researchers as to be credible.

Jacob's siblings:

* Francis, (b. 1729 Frederick Co. VA).
* Felty, (b. 1730 Greenbrier Co WV).
* Jacob, (b. 5-8-1730).
* Valentine, (b. 1734 Augusta, now Hardy Co. WV).
* Mathias M, (b. 1736 Mercer Co. KY).
* Jesse, (b. 1738 PA).
* Michael, (b. 1740 Mercer Co. KY).
* Conrad, (b. 1742 Greenbrier Co. WV).
* John, (b. 1747 PA).
* William, (b. 1750 Mercer Co. KY).
* Henry, (b. 1753 Mercer Co. KY).
* George, (b. 1755 Mercer Co. KY).

Jacob was maried to Elizabeth Zeh, (b. 1736 Tulpehocken Creek, Berks PA), married in 1756.

Jacob and Elizabeth's children:

* Elizabeth Yoakam, (b. 1760 Moorefield, Hardy, WV).
* George Washington Yoakam, (b. 5-7-1763 Loudoun Co. VA).
* Amelia Yoakam, (b. 1764 Moorefield, Hardy, WV).
* Jacob "Jake" Yocum, (b. 1767 Moorefield, Hardy, WV).
* Soloman Yoakam, (b. 1770).
* Matthias Yoakam, (b. 1771).
* Isaac Yoakam, (b. 1777 Moorefield, Hardy, WV).
* Michael Yoakam, (b. 12-2-1756-7 Hampshire Co VA), m. 3-1-1776 Druzilla Stump, (b. 5-10-1760 Hampshire Co VA).

Jacob died on 11-14-1780.

There are lengthy arguments on the internet which are must-reads regarding early American Yoakam geneology.

The linking of Jacob Yoakam and his ancestors all the way to Henrich Yoakam, is but one, of the most often cited "paths" to this family's beginning in America. It is not necessarily the correct one. Any corrections or further study of Michael's ancestors will be included here. At least in the memorial header the name "Yoakam" will be used. In the bio section, other forms of the name will be cited.

From Jacob's son Michael and following after, there is a much greater degree of certainty of facts.

All the above as well as the location of burials are being researched and need verification.

Elizabeth Crouch filed for divorce against James Crouch 24 Apr 1866. Elizabeth states they were married March 7, 1839 in Johnson Co. IN. Shortly after their marriage they moved to Kentucky where they lived until December 1863 when they settled in Brown Co. IN. They separated April 22, 1866. She charges brutality and fears for her life. They had eight children, the oldest 28, the youngest is two years old. James files a cross-complaint charging that Elizabeth went off with Elijah Graham. He asks for the custody of their minor children (unnamed). According to Order Book C, p.422, this suit was dismissed.

MAXFIELD/MORRISON/BRAWLEY - John Lafayette "Fayette" Maxfield, born June 7, 1853, Rome/Dix, IL, died April 18, 1944, Fort Dodge, IA. Son of John Maxfield and Charlotte Bruce, had 12 children born Jefferson, Effingham and Marion counties. Originally from Effingham County, John farmed and operated gristmills, either alone or with brothers Benjamin P. and Seth. Married Harriet Ann "Hattie Mae" Morrison Feb. 18, 1877, at her parent's home in Centralia. Hattie was born May 19, 1860, Tennessee Prairie, Raccoon Township. She died in a car-train accident at Alma, Aug. 12, 1920, enroute to visit in Salem. They are buried Elmwood Cemetery, Centralia.

Hattie's parents were James Morrison, born Washington County, TN, and Matisa Caroline Brawley, born Guilford County, NC. Grandfathers were Revolutionary War and Yorktown veteran Joseph Morrison, buried Mount Moriah Cemetery and Joseph Brawley; both migrated to the county between 1825 and 1835.

Fayette worked in the family enterprises until 1873, when the Illinois Central Railroad hired him. He started as a yard-locomotive fireman at $1.25 per day; then to brakeman at $1.73 per day; chief of a train-wreck clearing operation; and then to freight conductor at $66-75 per month. He worked in Texas, 1881-6, while his family remained in Farina. Returning to the ICRR, he was appointed a passenger-train conductor. Later, he relocated his family to Champaign and Chicago because of reassignments.

Blinded in one eye by a kindling-splitting accident, Fayette retired in 1912, to Centralia and opened a coal business. The house he built in 1908, at 402 North Poplar, site of an earlier Maxfield home, still stands. He re-retired in 1923, after his business failed, spent a short time in Florida, and thereafter resided with his daughter, Mildred's family.

Eleven of their 13 children worked at one time for the ICRR. Those with close Centralia associations were: Idalee (1882-1967) married William C. Burge; James (1884-1975) married Viola Heape and was a long-term city clerk; Harold (1886-1978) married Bonnie Joliff; Ernest (1893-1965) married Laura Peiffer; George (1896-1988) married Cora Gregory; Mildred (1897-1983) married William M. Holwick; Raymond (1899-1978) married Francis Voight.

Fayette was a great storyteller and his 90 year life spanning from the Civil War to Nazi rockets provided a wealth of lore. He loved to retell first-hand accounts of the Black Hawk and Mexican Wars heard on the leg of grandfather Marcus D. Bruce. Fayette personally saw relatives off to the Civil War, and he regularly sold homemade pastries to soldiers enroute to Grant's Western campaign. While railroading in Texas, he transported settlers to the southwestern desert and soldiers to the Indian campaigns.

Shortly before he died, the Maxfield family's remarkable railroading history was acclaimed in the Illinois Central Magazine and national railroading publications. Submitted by Colonel William B. Holwick (USA Ret.)

MAYBERRY - In 1818, Illinois became a state. On Independence Day that same year, James Harvey Mayberry was born. We believe his father was Jesse Mayberry, son of Frederick Mayberry Jr. (who came into White/Hamilton County by 1818), who was the son of Frederick Mayberry Sr. of New Jersey.

The old family Bible survives today, with that date, and the date of April 13, 1816, as the birthdate of his wife, Nancy Hamilton, daughter of David Hamilton, married Hamilton County, Feb. 11, 1836.

James, a farmer in Hamilton County, 1840 census with two children, came to Marion County shortly after, where nine more children were born.

Nancy Caroline, born Jan. 23, 1837, died July 11, 1856, married William Wiggins, buried with infant son in McGuire Cemetery, Iuka.

Jesse Henderson, born May 8, 1839, died Feb. 3, 1923, Claremont, OK, married Eliza Lanora Blackburn, had 10 children.

Mary Catherine, born Feb. 18, 1841, died Feb. 3, 1924, Sedan, KS, married Lee Clark Foster May 5, 1859, 10 children.

David Logan, born Jan. 2, 1843, died Sept. 21, 1922, married Martha Dilliner, 11 children.

Susan Safire, born April 13, 1845, married Samuel Jones March 9, 1865, had three children.

Granville Houston, born March 29, 1848, died 1871, married Sarah Jane McElyea Oct. 14, 1870, Clay County. He married second Elizabeth Holman, died 1922.

James Harvey Jr., born March 22, 1850, died Nov. 16, 1854.

Martha Ellenor, born June 10, 1852, died April 27, 1926, California, married John Spurgeon Feb. 26, 1866, 10 children.

William Hamilton, born Feb. 9, 1854, died Nov. 6, 1854.

Joseph Allison, born Nov. 24, 1856, died June 17, 1864.

Marcus de Lafayette, born Nov. 24, 1856, died Feb. 18, 1946, married Nora Levada Gadberry Nov. 4, 1886, Paris, TX, 10 children. One of his grandsons is Adrian Joe Borders, of Napa, CA, whose mother was Rosa Lee Mayberry.

On May 27, 1864, Nancy Mayberry died of typhoid fever buried McGuire Cemetery, as was her seven and a half year old twin son, Joseph, just three weeks after her death. These events seemed to splinter the family. James Harvey Mayberry remarried to Cassandra Parrill Jones in Clay County and they had a daughter, Rosella Mayberry (who married Linus Miles Lyon 1887, and died in Merrill, OR, 1913, 10 children). A divorce must have taken place, both Cassandra and James remarried, she to Thomas Carrell 1875, removing to Kansas, and he to Sarah Elizabeth Boyer, 1871, in Washington County, AR. They later moved to Texas, near Austin, where they had a daughter, Rosie Etta, born Nov. 20, 1873, married Con Joe Foley June 28, 1896, followed by twins, who died shortly after the young mother died, 1876.

James Harvey Mayberry lived in Texas, near daughter, Martha, who had come with her family from Illinois to take care of the twins, arriving too late, but helped raise Rosie Etta. He died Jan. 2, 1895, Waxahachie, TX. Submitted by Billie Borders.

T. Sullenger, John Willis, Merrill Willis, Hardy C. Willis, Elijah Burriss; John Moore, father of Mrs. Charles Heard, and his sons, James, Alfred and Green; Levi Wooldridge, in the southeastern part of the county, and John

Captain Oliver, C. S. A. Sons of John Reeves were S. Jerome Reeves (born on September 28, 1829), and Leonard Reeves (born in 1839). His daughter, Cleander, married William Dean, of Dog (or Cedar) Creek. Ophelia Reeves married Joseph Holmes, who, while a soldier in the Confederate Army, was killed at Marietta, Ga. Garrett Turman, Jr., lived at the W. T. Warff place in 1836, and about the same date James Anglin lived at the Blount Turman place. At what is now known as Martin's shop, Phelps Martin lived in the long ago, and his near-by neighbor was Benjamin Vaughan. Turman Parker lived on this, the Barren Fork, about 1835. George W. Hicks, who lives at the mouth of the Barren Fork of Lick Creek, was born on April 22, 1835, on Lick Creek. He is a son of William M. Hicks, who was born in Virginia on January 9, 1804, and who married Margaret, thedaughter of Josiah Davidson, who was a North Carolina soldier in the Revolutionary War. Margaret Davidson was born in Rutherford County, Tenn. The Hicks family came to Lick Creek in 1815. Jerre Ingram laid a soldier's warrant at the Hicks place in 1815. The land upon which W. T. Warff lives was granted to Butler, the grant embracing 640 acres. An adjoining grant of the same number of acres was to Grant. The Grant lands are on the Trace Fork, and have since been known as the Tidwell or Dean lands, and lie adjoining to the Ingram lands. The Butler lands, which were also for military service in the Revolutionary War, were located about 1810. The Tidwell above referred to was Eli Tidwell, father of the late Levi J. Tidwell, who was for many years one of the Fourth District's magistrates. Levi J. Tidwell was a man of determination, firm in his views upon all questions, whether personal, political, or religious. He was a Missionary Baptist, having joined that church at Union Hill, Henderson County, Tenn. In politics he was an unflinching Republican, and was at one time a candidate for Representative. He was beaten only eighty-four votes by Col. Vernon F. Bibb, who was considered the strongest Democrat in the county. Tidwell was born on March 14, 1825. He lived in what is called "The Barrens", above the head waters of Lick Creek, on the Tannehill entry, which was made in 1826. This entry embraced several thousand acres. A near-by entry was one made by John Stone in 1820. Alfred Tidwell, a son of Levi J. Tidwell, was a deputy under Sheriff John V. Stephenson, and another son, Johnson Tidwell, is at present one of the magistrates of the Fourth District. The Tidwells came from North Carolina in 1843. There is a large family of them in the flat country along the county line, and they have built up a thrifty settlement, known as the "Tidwell Settlement".

At the Hicks place Lick Creek forks. The Barren Fork, already referred to, rises near Martin's Shop. The other fork, known as the Trace Fork, rises in Williamson County and runs about twelve miles before entering the Fourth District of Hickman County.

The first place on Lick Creek in Hickman County was settled by John Mayberry, who came from Virginia, near the Peaks of Otter. He was here as a hunter as early as 1800, and made a permanent settlement here about 1806, he being the first settler on Lick Creek in Hickman County. He was a farmer and blacksmith, and has hundreds of descendants throughout Hickman, Maury, and Williamson Counties. He was the father of a large family, all of whom were older than the present century. His sons were Mike, Job, John, George, and Gabriel. He was the grandfather of Walker and Sim Mayberry. A daughter of John Mayberry married a Kinnie; another married Alston Jones, and was the mother of O. A. Jones; and another married Pleasant Russell, and was the mother of Ferdinand B. and Washington B. Russell. Gabriel Mayberry, after the death of his father, lived at the old Mayberry place, where John T. Morton now lives. It is said that when an old man he kept as one of his most valued treasures a pair of trousers which his mother had made. These he kept folded carefully and laid away in an old-fashioned chest. Occasionally he would take them out, gaze on them reverently, and say: "Mother made these for me, and I want to be buried in them." When he died, friends granted his wish.

Farther down the creek, on the lands entered by Grant, Stockard settled at an early date. Hardin, a soldier of the Revolution, lived here a few years later. This is the place at which Tidwell and Dean later lived.

In 1807 Robert E. C. Dougherty settled on the creek below the Stockard place. He was a school-teacher and was one of the early magistrates of the county. In 1819 he resigned his seat in the State Legislature and removed to West Tennessee. At the place where Dougherty settled there now lives Garret Turman Overbey, who knows much of the history of the Fourth District.

Daniel Overbey, early in the present century, emigrated from North Carolina to Sumner County, Tenn., and in the autumn of 1814 he came to Hickman County, settling in the following spring at the head of one branch of the Barren Fork of Lick Creek. His wife was Emily Tyler, who was related to President John Tyler. Overbey and his wife both died in 1869. Daniel Overbey, Jr., a son of Daniel Overbey, Sr., on March 15, 1832, married Sarah Parker, and they became the parents of eight children. He died on February 2, 1865, his wife living until December 15, 1890. Sarah Parker was a daughter of Elisha and Rebecca Parker. Rebecca Parker was a daughter of Garret Turman, Sr., who was a soldier in the Revolutionary War, and who was at one time held a prisoner by the Indians for six months. This was during the Revolutionary War, when North Carolina and Georgia were overrun by the Tories and the frontiers devastated by the Indians. Garret Turman Overbey, a son of Daniel Overvey, Jr., was born on October 13, 1834, and, on December 23, 1858, married Emily J. Moss, who was born on September 11, 1837. He is the father of six children---John T., W. W., America L., James D., T. F., and Annie C. The wife of G. T. Overbey is a descendant of the Foote family, of Virginia, a member of which was at one time Governor of Mississippi.

No portion of Hickman County is more closely connected with the early history of Middle Tennessee than is the Lick Creek country. "Lick Creek of Duck River" was one of the first streams of Middle Tennessee to receive a name. It derives its name from the black Sulphur spring on the south side of the creek, on the old Russell (and later Beale) place, now owned by John T. Overbey. Here buffaloes, deer, and other wild animals congregated in large numbers. Such places as this were called, in the pioneer days, "licks". The buffaloes coming from across Duck River to this lick crossed at the mouth of Leatherwood Creek, and the path they made was used by the Chickasaws when they came into the Cumberland settlements. According to the late Maj. Bolling Gordon, the route of the Chickasaw Trace, the path by which the whites and Indians traveled to and from the Chickasaw country, was as follows: "Up Trace Creek in Lawrence County, down Swan Creek, and across Blue Buck somewhere near the residence of Jo. M. Bond; then over to the spring on Robertson's Creek, where Mark Robertson was killed by Indians; then over to Lick Creek, near Mrs. Beale's residence; thence to Nashville by way of Johnson's Lick, on Richland Creek near Charles Bosley's; then on to French Lick, now Nashville." The Chickasaw Trace ran for several miles up the Trace Fork of Lick Creek. When James Robertson, in 1780, made the first expedition from the Bluffs against the Indians, he came upon them near this lick on Lick Creek. When the Coldwater Expedition went out from Nashville in 1787 to avenge the death of Mark Robertson, it went west from Nashville to the mouth of Turnbull Creek, and up that creek to its head. They then went to the head of Lick Creek, and traveled several miles along the ridge, leaving the creek to their right. They then, turning into the creek valley, came down Trace Fork to the lick on the John T. Overbey place, described as "an old lick as large as a cornfield". They then crossed Dog Creek, went up

Background of the name Boyle

Boyle is O Baoighill in modern Irish, the derivation of which is possibly from the old Irish word Baigell – that is, "having profitable pledges." The O'Boyles were a strong sept in County Donegal, with a regularly initiated chieftain seated at Cloghineely: They shared with the O'Donnells and the O'Doughertys the leadership of the northwest. Ballyweel, near Donegal town, is a phonetic rendering of Baile Ui Bhaoighill (the home of the O'Boyles). These O'Boyles were noted for their ruddy complexion.

There is another Boyle lineage that became notable as well, with roots going back to England: When Richard Boyle landed in Ireland in 1588 as a young man without influence, few could have anticipated that he would become what has been termed the "first colonial millionaire." He acquired the extensive property of the executed Sir Walter Raleigh in County Waterford. This formed the nucleus of the vast estates he was to bequeath to his numerous family on his death in 1643, by which time he was Earl of Cork and had held high government office. The best known of his sons (born in Ireland) were Roger Boyle (1621-1679), Earl of Orrery, and Robert Boyle (1627-1691), chemist and experimental physicist.

The surname Boyle (or Boyles) is of Scottish origin. The Boyle family's penchant for higher education may reflect this origin. Our records of them begin in Ireland before the immigration to America. Patriarch Alexander Boyle resided in County Down, in the Ballney Hinch area, where he was a farmer and a miller, and in religion a strict Seceder. (A Seceder was a church formed off of the Scottish Presbyterian Church -Calvinist) He was the father of seven children, (including John, Thomas, Nancy, Elizabeth, & Francis). He is buried in the cemetery there at Ballney Hinch. His wife is thought to be Charity Armstrong, who was said to make religious pilgrimages to Germany. She survived her husband and accompanied her children to America. Francis Boyle was born in Ballney Hinch, Ireland, grew up there and married Ann Scott. He received a good education, was a teacher and leader in sports. He and Ann had 6 children, all born in Ireland: three sons (John, David, Alexander) and three daughters (Nancy, and 2 names unknown). Francis' son Alexander (II) is said to have been born in Co. Londonderry; possibly Francis went there to receive his education and remained for a time. In 1794, while the children were small, Francis & family left Ireland for America. They settled eventually at Glade Mills, Middlesex Twp., Butler Co. PA. Francis' brothers and mother also immigrated, but it seems they were already in the Frankstown (Altoona area) of Bedford Co. (now Blair Co.)PA by 1790. Eventually it appears that all the sons of Alexander Boyle & Charity Armstrong, except for William who died young and Francis who remained in Butler Co. PA, settled in Ogle Co. Illinois, in the Rochelle area of Dement Twp. Charity Armstrong Boyles remained with her son Francis in Butler Co. until her death in 1827 at age 102 years. .....It appears that Alexander Boyles died early and Charity took the responsiblity of their children..... maybe not same Alexander.....not same kids.....Jacob, our ancestor came with the McCunes and Tracys to Athens at the same time.....so.....Jacob moved to Ohio bet 1798& 1802 when the town was chartered. 6 kids David, Jacob 1751, Charity 1755, Mary Betsey 1763, Peter 1765, Francis 1775

The names from the Middle Ages have many spelling variations....including Boyle, o"Boyle, Boghill, Hill, Boile, Baoghal, Baole First found in Donegal, whee they were descended from king Maoldun Baoghal (meaning "peril") of the Heremon line of Irish Kings. Boyle, or O'Boyle, is now one of the fifty most common surnames in Ireland. In Irish the name is O'Baoghill, the derivation of which is uncertain, but thought to be connected to the Irish geall, meaning "pledge". In the Middle Ages the family were powerful and respected, sharing control of the entire northwest of the island with the O'Donnells and the O'Dohertys, and the strongest association of the family is still with Co Donegal, where (O)Boyle is the third most numerous name in the county. The majority of those bearing the name are of Gaelic origin, but many Irish Boyles have separate, Norman origins. In Ulster, a significant number are descended from the Scottish Norman family of de Boyville, whose name comes from the town now known as Beauville in Normandy. The most famous Irish family of the surname were the Boyles, Earls of Cork and Shannon, descended from Richard Boyle, who arrived in Ireland from Kent in 1588 and quickly amassed enormous wealth. His earliest known ancestor was Humphrey de Binville, a Norman lord in Herefordshire in the eleventh century. .....
